SUMMER EBT 2024 COMING TO TN!

When P-EBT ended, Congress made Summer EBT a permanent program to help support families struggling with hunger during the summer months. Tennessee has taken the first step to ensure that families with school children receive Summer EBT in 2024. The program will provide approximately $77 million to feed 644,000 low-income Tennessee students for the summer months when families are more likely to experience hunger.

Thank you Governor Lee, Commissioner Reynolds, and Commissioner Carter for your leadership to bring Summer EBT to eligible Tennessee children. This is an important step towards addressing hunger and feeding Tennessee children during summer 2024!

HUNGER IN TENNESSEE

SNAP Application Delays and Portal Problems Increase Hunger for Tennesseans
Jasmine Bryant is one of thousands of Tennesseans who aren’t able to access the SNAP benefits they are eligible to receive. Long wait times, disappearing documents, technology issues, understaffing, and more have caused delays in application approval and have wrongfully cut SNAP benefits for exiting SNAP participants who struggle to feed their families without SNAP. Read about Jasmine’s experience and hear from Signe Anderson, TJC’s Senior Director of Nutrition Advocacy in the Tennessee Lookout.

USDA announced new guidance to improve language access. Adequate language access is “the Department’s responsibility, and not that of an individual seeking services.” This guidance addresses the issues faced by people who speak little or no English when accessing programs like SNAP.

Stop the Benefits Cliff

Around 16,000 Tennesseans must make the choice between receiving SNAP benefits and furthering their careers because of the Benefits Cliff. Tennessee and Mississippi are the only two states in the Southeast that have not adopted policy to address the cliff. If TN adopted the Broad-Based Categorical Eligibility (BBCE) policy, it could help thousands of families climb out of poverty. Contact Governor Lee and urge TDHS to adopt this policy.
No-cost school meals for Tennessee students have bipartisan support! The Tennessee General Assembly reconvened this week, and we will continue to champion the proposed bill that was introduced in 2023 by Republican legislators Representative Raper and Senator Lowe. The bill would provide school meals for all Tennessee students. Every child deserves to learn without hunger.

More Funding for School Meals in 2024: CEP Expansion in Tennessee
Many schools in Tennessee participate in the Community Eligibility Provision (CEP), a school meal policy that allows eligible schools to provide free meals to all students. Recent changes in the program make more schools eligible to receive funding to serve free school meals for all students. This helps schools and districts in Tennessee from Knoxville to Cleveland and beyond, giving more kids access to healthy meals for all in 2024! For more info on CEP in TN, click below.

Protect Access to WIC for Families
2 million parents and children nationwide could lose access to WIC, unless Congress fully funds the WIC program by January 19, 2024. A new report from Center on Budget Policy Priorities (CBPP) takes a closer look at the impact to WIC if it is not funded. Urge your legislators to fund the program by signing the letter below.

Webinar: Anti-Hunger Advocacy Challenges in Tennessee

Thursday, January 25 at 1:00p CT – Most everyone agrees that Tennesseans should not go hungry, and most people are quick to help those in need. However, advocating for policy change and protecting the safety net program can be a challenge in Tennessee. These programs have historically enjoyed bipartisan support, and while rule making can feel polarized there have been bipartisan efforts to support the safety net programs. Join us to discuss advocacy challenges in TN and how to overcome them. For those who are not able to lobby for legislative change we will also talk about the important role that educating and other advocacy efforts play in creating change.
